TO INVESTIGATE DEATH OF ADMIRAL

'Irreverence' Causes Radical Change In Valentino Funeral Plans

CURIOUS ARE BARRED FROM SEEING BODY

Sandwich Vendors and Selling
Of Places in Lines Causes
Closing of Chapel Doors

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The great sheik in death received the emotional funeral service at the Campbell Funeral Home today. Forty-five thousand persons passed by his bier. He slept in an atmosphere of calm, smothered with flowers and guarded by the black shirted fascisti.

The crowd came in order and silence and single file swiftly, but not swiftly enough for all to reach the lifeless face of Valentino before the doors of the Campbell Funeral Home were barred to the public at midnight.

George Ullman, Valentino's personal representative who had loved the Italian boy very deeply for several years was to hurt by the hysteria of women; the sometimes off-color remarks of men; the ridiculous of yesterday! The general circumstances to allow the body of his friend to be further profane by public view.

Men had been known actually to sell their places in line Ullman learned that many made a few dollars out of umbrellas and overshoes and sandwiches. "Horrible," thought Ullman, the friend of Valentino.

Changed for the same reason, too are the funeral arrangements.
There was to have been an elaborate and solemn funeral procession from the Campbell chapel to Saint Malachi's church.

So now the sheik will be borne to the church attended only by the flowered tribute and a few friends and after the Requiem-High Mass heard by those with cards of admission the body will be taken to Woodlawn cemetery to await the coming of Alberto Guglielmo the brother. The Fascisti will fire a salute and Rudy will be by himself at last.

cuts of the hand and shoulder.

the transportation situation in the Mira Vista district the traction company will be called in and the entire matter worked out with a

Hurricane Hits Southern Cities

(By Universal Service)
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 25.—New Orleans and Morgan City were tonight feeling the effects of the tropical hurricane.

In Morgan City, at Shreveport and several other places in southern Louisiana small homes were blown down. Telegraph and other wires were prostrated.

The wind reached a velocity of seventy miles an hour from the east, wrecked several fishing schooners in Berwick Bay and caused other damage.

In New Orleans the wind was up to 38 miles an hour at six o'clock and getting stronger. Little damage was done but the orange and other orchards on the lower coast were hard hit. It is believed that many cattle lost their lives in the lowlands.

Because of the expert services of notifying people through radio the residents of Cameron and other parishes were saved.

Fears were entertained for the members of the Biloxi fishing fleet tonight known to be in the Louisiana marshes.

The hurricane is expected to blow for several hours before expending its force inland.

Hercules May Be Ammunition Supply Depot

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur Makes Inspection of Hercules Site

That a section of the Hercules Powder plant may be used as an ammunition dump for the United States Army and Navy is the firm belief of residents of Hercules after the visit paid the Hercules plant by Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur yesterday.

Wilbur, enroute to the Vallejo Navy Yard, together with his staff of officials paid a visit to the Hercules plant and inspected the grounds. Later in the day he was taken to McNear's point in Marin county where another site was inspected.

Since the recent disaster at Lake Denmark the War Department officials have been led to consider seriously the distributing of large ammunition deposits in widely separated, yet easily reached spots, so that the destruction of one supply will not cause the holocaust recently experienced.

Believe Alien Carried Bomb

(By Universal Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—A foreigner in destitute circumstances exploded the bomb in the Farmers Deposit National Bank here late yesterday, which claimed two lives and injured forty persons, according to the theory on which police were working today.

The bomb-carrier received the full force of the blast and was almost decapitated. George Ortman, bank policeman, who was rushing toward the man when the bomb exploded, died ten minutes later in a hospital.

Police Lieutenant Peter Connors, head of the homicide squad, said there was a bare possibility that the identity of the bomb hurler will be established.

Hundreds of persons viewed the body in the morgue today, but thus far none has recognized the man. The only clues police have, which may ultimately lead to identifying him, are a cheap belt buckle, initialed "L," and remnants of his clothing.

Examination of parts of the bomb picked up from the floor of the wrecked banking room showed it to be of the nitroglycerine type. Had the bomb not been on the marble floor when it exploded many more persons would have been killed, police believe.

LAST MINUTE ALTERATION OF WILL CHARGED

Naval Department Asks Official Investigation of Sudden Death of Officer

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, August 24.—An official investigation into the sudden death last Monday of Rear Admiral George H. Barber was requested today by Lieutenant Commander H. C. Bishop who is acting for the navy.

This turn of affairs brought to light tonight the strange story of a death-bed codicil to the admiral's will whereby Miss Helen C. Ashley an attractive nurse will inherit $75,000 of the admiral's estate.

At the same time it was learned that for hours last Sunday while the aged navy officer was ill he and Miss Ashley tried in vain to secure a marriage license.

When the request for an investigation into Admiral Barber's death was made by Coroner Leland it was explained that there was no intimation or suspicion of wrong doing but that it was merely to fulfill navy regulations.

OVER-NAMED

Any fistcuffs in which Messrs. Dempsey and Tunney might indulge could never be properly called a "battle of the century." We know of no century in the past, and we can look forward to none in the future in which a boxing match between the two would take the necessary pre-eminence to be correctly named the battle of the century.

Further, there is no battle conceivable in which Mr. Dempsey might take part that ought to be of the proportions required of a battle of a century.

A battle to be the battle of a century must be one in which the outcome is long in doubt, in which the contestants strive so mightily and so dramatically that all who watch are enormously impressed. The battle itself must be of titanic forces. Now there are two reasons why Dempsey could not participate in a battle of the century. The first is that Dempsey is physically and fistically so superior to any other human being now extant that there could not be that uncertainty of outcome which marks a battle truly between giants. When there is only one giant, it's not even a good battle, let alone a battle of a century.

In the second place, it is unthinkable that Mr. Dempsey by defending his crown once in three years and then only after a series of wriggings and writhings unprecedented in fistic championship circles, could have the prestige required of the defender of a world-championship in a real battle of the century.

Mr. Rickard is assured of the attendance and the fat takings he wishes without calling this bout a "battle of the century." It will be that only in a financial way.

RE-ORGANIZE

The probable increase of fifty-five millions in governmental expenses for the new fiscal year will undoubtedly operate among the sober thinking members of congress to give new life to the bill, which has been for some time before the body, for the general overhauling, re-organization and abolition of needless governmental bureaus, commissions, boards and agencies. This measure first came up in 1921, and it is certain to be one of the administrations principal economy measures next winter, and ought to be enacted without further delay. The total of government employes has been cut from the high mark of 656,000 to 246,000 and it will stand further reduction. Happily in all these undertakings the President is not one in the habit of putting his hands to the plow only to turn it from the furrow.

What's In A Name?

Catherine is benevolent and deeply religious; good name for social workers.

Catherine is a name that comes to us from ancient Greece. Katharos in Greek means sincere, and pure. This meaning is retained in our medical term "cathartic" which means purifying.

There are some who claim that this name is not of Greek origin but it is derived from the Syriac word "Catharin" or "Catharin," which is the name of the Polar star.

The name occurs in various languages; such as Catherine, Katerina, and Yekaterina. Kate and Kitty are the diminutive; it is Katie with the Scotch, Katty and Kathleen with the Irish.

There are six saints who bore this name, one of them, the Syriac St. Catherine, is said to wear the "triple crown" of wisdom, virginity and martyrdom, for the sacred lady had been tortured upon a wheel of spikes, later known as the Catherine Wheel. There is also an expression "to braid St. Catherine's hair" which means to live the life of a virgin.

Two Catherine's ruled over Russia, one of them being the daughter of Peter the Great—by a German girl whom his soldiers took prisoner.

A Catherine was queen and regent of France. She instigated the massacre of St. Bartholomew in which so many Huguenots lost their lives. Two Catherine's were queens of England, one of them the wife of Henry VIII, was the daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain.

According to its numbers the name Catherine adds to forty-two which is six times seven, placing

That Child Of Yours

By Ruth Matthews

Not long ago a mother was discussing her fourteen-year-old daughter with me. A sweet child, she is, and worthy of the beautiful, intelligent mother whom she adores. Between the two, there exists a wonderful companionship and a sympathetic understanding.

The little girl—for she is still just that, without a single flapper tendency, is a sensitive, reserved child with unusual ability. She has already shown a remarkable talent in music. At school she is a quick little scholar and in athletics she has achieved enviable success on school teams.

But aside from passing association with the young girls she knows at school, she has few close friends. She prefers the companionship of her mother and her mother's charming friends. That seems to satisfy her completely while she is disgusted by the little flappers, the popular girls in her classes. They have reached the "boy-crazy" stage, a very natural one by the way, and she as yet is untouched by any such interest in the youngsters of the opposite sex.

Betty, the young daughter, holds herself a little aloof from these giggling little girls who, consequently, have excluded her from their little cliques and crowds. She has also confided to her mother that there are some boys at school and in the neighborhood whom she thinks she would like, if she knew them because—well she doesn't know why! The reason is a perfectly natural one. It is the self-consciousness, due to the purely feminine environment of her home.

So her mother has come to the realization that Betty should be she likes some of them but they have few interests in common. The child, necessarily at times, has the unpleasant sensation of "being left out" of things.

The mother is frankly distressed about it, although she would not let her young daughter know that it disturbs her. She sees what the child can not see, the disappointments in store for the girl who grows up without learning the art of friendliness.

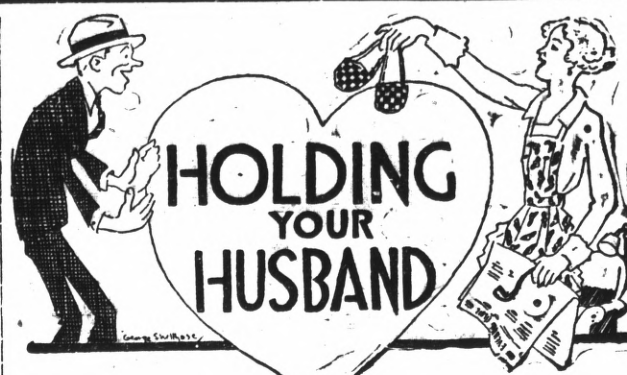

It is impossible to change Betty to another school and anyway now-a-days, it is hard to find one where the youngsters haven't acquired more or less premature sophistication. The girl will have to adapt herself to a like situation, at some time in her career later so the mother has decided wisely that it might just as well be now. First, and foremost, she knows that her own companionship really satisfies her little daughter, completely. She realizes that this should not be, and she is unselfish enough to want to provide normal, youthful friendships for her child. Betty feels there are some girls at school whom she would like to know better but she is too sensitive and reserved to risk the danger of rebuffs.

She has also confided to her mother that there are some boys at school and in the neighborhood whom she thinks she would like, if she knew them because—well she doesn't know why! The reason is a perfectly natural one. It is the self-consciousness, due to the purely feminine environment of her home.

So her mother has come to the realization that Betty should be thrown with more youthful companions. She understands that an older woman can often steer her sensitive child through the difficult course of adolescence by making friends with the young people when her daughter finds it hard to approach alone. She is planning to invite some of Betty's friends, whom she has met when she has visited the school, to her home, every week. Not only that, but she is planning a series of little parties to which she will invite a carefully selected little group of boys.

In the atmosphere of congenial goodfellowship which she knows that she can create, she realizes that Betty will make herself popular.

THE FROLICS

Being in a nursery and later honeymooning are the two big frolics of life, and they are not very far apart in fun and frolics. Delectable frolicking. If you ever find yourself growing hardened, pray that time may turn backward in its flight and make you a child again in innocence and simplicity. Simplicity is usually sure to prevail almost any plan without a capital of astute diplomacy. Wives that have this are ever decorated with luck. Joyousness is a virtue so rare that it meets the approval of the centuries. A wife that retains the joyousness of her teens is as rare as an archangel. Did you know that fun and rest often travel together? Happy the home that the sunshin's on. PROVERB: "Sorrow is good for nothing but sin."

THE MOTHER OF MARGOT ASQUITH

The famous Margot Asquith, wife of England's celebrated statesman and now Countess of Oxford and Asquith, is known to be independent in character and thoughts, and this dependence extends even to the memories of her mother, and the influences her mother played in her life. What Margot Asquith is she became through her own efforts, through her philosophy, and that is probably why we hear her speak of her mother in these terms:

"My mother was more unlike my father than can easily be imagined. She was as timid as he was bold, as controlled as he was spontaneous, and as refined, courteous and unassuming as he was vibrant, shrewd and adventurous. "Fond as we were of each other and intimate over all my love affairs, my mother never really understood me. My vitality, independent happiness and physical energies filled her with fatigue. She never enjoyed her prosperity and suffered from all the apprehensions, fussiness and love of economy that should by right belong to the poor but by a curious perversion almost always blight the rich."

"Her preachings on economy were a constant source of amusement to my father. I made up my mind at an early age, after listening to his chaff, that money was the most overrated of all anxieties; and not only has nothing occurred in my long experience to make me alter this opinion but everything has tended to confirm it."

Famous Unsolved Mysteries

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF AARON BURR'S DAUGHTER

What was the tragic fate of Theodosia Burr Alston, belle of South Carolina, wife of the governor of the State and daughter of the notorious Aaron Burr?

Less than two weeks after the death of her only child, Mrs. Alston received a letter from her father begging her to visit him in New York where he was living after his four years exile following his trial for treason. Theodosia was Aaron Burr's only child and she was motherless. In addition to her father's desire to see her, he hoped a change of scene would help assuage her grief over the loss of her child. Her husband was prevented by law from leaving the state during his tenure as governor, and most reluctantly he consented to her leaving him. On December 30, 1812, Mrs. Alston boarded the pilot boat "Patriot," bound for New York, accompanied by a personal representative of her father, by her physician, and a retinue of servants. It was supposed she took with her a recent portrait of herself which she intended to present to her father as a Christmas gift.

Burr Haunted Battery

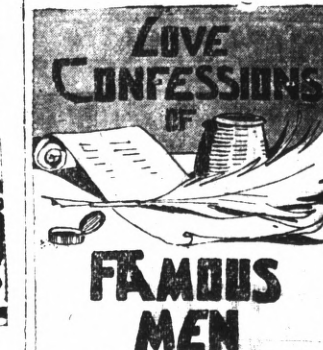

So great was Aaron Burr's anxiety to see his daughter that he haunted the Battery, waiting for the vessel to arrive. Days ran into weeks and at last, realizing the hopelessness of his vigil, he exclaimed in despair, "She is dead! Thus is severed the last tie that binds me to my kind!" Neither the "Patriot" nor the beautiful Theodosia, nor any of her fellow passengers were ever seen or heard of again. It was the tragic climax of Aaron Burr's life. Shortly afterward Theodosia's husband died of a broken heart.

Many have been the theories to account for the loss of the "Patriot." According to one pirate boarded the vessel and Mrs. Alston was borne away into captivity. According to another she was forced to walk the plank with the other passengers.

Doctor Finds Portrait

The mystery was complicated further shortly after the Civil War, when Dr. W. G. Pool of North Carolina was called to the hut of a poor woman living on the coast who gave him in lieu of fee an oil portrait of a beautiful woman, which was strangely out of place in such sordid surroundings.

THE FROLICS

Being in a nursery and later honeymooning are the two big frolics of life, and they are not very far apart in fun and frolics. Delectable frolicking. If you ever find yourself growing hardened, pray that time may turn backward in its flight and make you a child again in innocence and simplicity. Simplicity is usually sure to prevail almost any plan without a capital of astute diplomacy. Wives that have this are ever decorated with luck. Joyousness is a virtue so rare that it meets the approval of the centuries. A wife that retains the joyousness of her teens is as rare as an archangel. Did you know that fun and rest often travel together? Happy the home that the sunshin's on. PROVERB: "Sorrow is good for nothing but sin."

NORMA PUTS A NEW KICK INTO "KIKI"

Norma Talmadge puts a new kick in "Kiki". Anyone who saw the Belasco stage play and who happened to be among the crowd when packed to the Richmond Theatre yesterday will agree for this fact.

From now on Norma Talmadge and "Kiki" should be synonymous, for never has a motion picture star been so aptly fitted for a role as Miss Talmadge for the role of Kiki in the play story of modern Paris life, "The First National picture," fairly bubbles over with mythical situations and dramatic theme—the adventures of a little street game who comes to stage fame and the luxurious life of a "great lady."

Miss Talmadge as "Kiki" who is always ready for a fight or a come-bone of the first water. It is difficult to envision this heroine as a "great lady" who could have engaged the lovely Norma engaged in fastidiously with her rival in love or having breakfast dishes at any time who dared destroy her beauty.

Donald Coleman, as Victor Renault, a Parisian in the number makes an ideal leading man for Miss Talmadge. It is the handsome actor's first appearance opposite Norma. Others in the later part of the picture are: George K. Arthur, Edwin Stanley, Arthur H. Hays, and others.

Other features include "Broken China," a Bobby Vernon comedy, "Grandland Rice," "Spotlight," "Prizma," The Screen Magazine.

'MEN OF STEEL' PLEASURES MANY AT CALIFORNIA

First National's long heralded photoplay, "Men of Steel," opened last night at the California Theatre. It was worth waiting for.

Milton Sills, who is credited with the authorship of the story, is seen in the starring role, and incidentally in his greatest screen performance. Sills is magnificent. He starts out an innocent laborer in an iron mine. He comes to the aid of a girl and her son in the steel mill. And what a fight he has in the steel mill. And what a fight he has in the steel mill. And what a fight he has in the steel mill.

But after all Sills is the picture. George Archibald, who directed this picture, should be proud of his work. Other features include "Gimme Strength," a Jimmie Adams comedy, "Song Melody," "International News," and Larry Cline, at the organ.

Aged Mother Held Captive Two Years

(By Universal Service)

GALESBURG, Ill., August 25.—How an aged mother was held prisoner in the basement of her home for more than two years by her insane son was revealed at a hospital today where Mrs. Clara Hanson 55, is undergoing treatment.

Mrs. Hansen was rescued from her strange plight by neighbors who broke into her home when they heard her scream. An invalid most of her life, Hansen was found partially paralyzed and undemonstrated.

She was taken to the hospital where she told her strange story. She says that two years ago her son, Carl 28 years old, learned that she needed an operation. He placed her in the cellar of her home and refused to have physicians attend her. He threatened to perform the operation himself, she said. The son has been committed to the Watertown hospital for the insane.

Counter Revolt Is Raging In Greek Republic

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A counter revolution, the full extent of which is not known, is raging in Greece, according to dispatches today from Sofia and Budapest. Supporters of Theodor Pangalos, who was deposed as dictator of Greece in a bloodless revolution early Sunday, reached Bulgaria today and reported fighting in progress between loyal Pangalos followers and forces of General Kondylos, military leader of the revolution. Other dispatches from Sofia reported sound of heavy firing northeast of Saloniki.

Athens reports reveal that all is not well in the councils of the revolutionists who are dividing into factions for and against the plan of Kondylos heading a new cabinet. Some, it is said, even oppose his participation in the new government.

Admiral Kendoriotis, who was proclaimed president by the revolutionists, issued a proclamation "abolishing the dictatorship" and announcing that the president would assume complete authority pending the general elections. In this some saw a determined effort to force Kondylos, the military power in the revolution, into political eclipse.

Kondylos countered with a statement denying that he had any personal political ambitions and assuring the people he was not even disposed to participate in the government if such a move would cause friction.

"I have an utter hatred of dictators and could not think of myself as a dictator without supreme contempt for myself," he said.

Pangalos has been removed to Aegina, twenty miles south of Athens, for safe-keeping. No announcement has been made as to the charges, if any, that will be made against him.

THRILL KILLER IS UNDERGOING SANITY TEST

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Emanuel Silverstein, 19-year-old prodigy and student of philosophy, who "killed" because he had the desire to kill," according to police, was committed to the observation ward of Kings County Hospital today.

The youth was arraigned on a charge of murdering James Calisch, his instructor in philosophy, by beating him on the head with a shoemaker's hammer, in a cafeteria. Calisch, a student of some note, conducted an office on Board street as a stock brokerage expert.

When asked if he were an admirer of Loeb and Leopold, Silverstein replied, "Why they were just ordinary individuals, but I am a superman." He showed no emotion.

Silverstein displayed a cynical smile, all through the court proceedings.

"What's so funny about all this?" asked the magistrate. "Nothing in particular," the youth replied quietly, but he continued to smile. "I just think it was funny to kill this fellow."

"Why did you do it?" "To tell you the truth I've lost the mental capacity to explain," Silverstein smiled. "I killed him for obvious reasons, but can't do myself justice in explaining to you at this time. He was responsible for my mental and physical condition through association with him, and by assimilation of his traits and ideas."

"I was going to end my own life, but I decided to kill him instead."

Helm's Talks to Kiwanis Club

Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms was the principal speaker at the Kiwanis club luncheon in the Hotel Carquinez yesterday. The topic of his address was "The Schools." He spoke at length on the costs of schools as contrasted with other institutions and showed that the per capita cost was much lower.

Musical numbers were furnished by Martin Langer, violinist; Joseph Malnas, accordionist; and Ethel Langer, pianist. W. L. Scowright was the chairman of the day.

UNOFFICIAL AIR BOARD OF U. S. IS SELECTED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Acting under authority of the new program laid down by Congress the administration has embarked upon an ambitious policy of coordinating all American air activities without the creation of a national department of aviation.

An unofficial board composed of the three most important secretaries for air—E. H. Tamm, justice; Edward T. Warner, navy; and William C. Clegg, commerce department—will carry out the new policy.

Aviation enthusiasts in both the army and navy (the supposed Mitchell) plan for consolidating the air services believe the creation of the board is a long step in this direction.

One of the first proposals to be taken up is expected to be the creation of a joint board of experts to assign definite objectives to experts of the army and navy air corps. Joint consideration of purchases, both to prevent the army and navy from bidding against each other and adding to the stability of aircraft manufactured by distributing orders over a long period has already been discussed.

Suggestions that a joint board be created to map out a plan of cooperation between the army and navy air corps for combat duty also will be placed before the board.

The full force of the army and navy in the development of commercial aviation by the commerce department has been promised. Standardization of training and tactics and the interchange of officers between the army and navy for limited periods to break down the intense rivalry which is said to have become a serious obstacle to co-operation will also be taken up.

Do What Doctors Do

Modern doctors are prescribing a new help to millions. It is one of the marvels of modern medicine, and is doing what nothing else has done.

It is a gland secretion, derived from livers of the ox. It stimulates the liver, and at once it multiplies the flow of bile. We have learned in late years that cathartics never do that.

This new flow of bile—a quart a day—floods the bowels, keeps them open. Thus it relieves constipation. It does this in a night.

Bile is an antiseptic. It combats intestinal germs which feed poisons to the blood. This new supply corrects countless results of blood impurities.

Bile is a digestant. It ends the bowel indigestion due to lack of bile. To nine in ten people this new help means priceless benefits. This liver gland secretion is embodied in Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents ten drops. Learn what it means to you.

"Clip this advertisement. Take it to our Special Agent, La Moine Drug Co., and he will give you a liberal sample of Dioxol free."

MORE SEVERITY IN CHURCH WAR IS THREATENED

(By Universal Service)

MEXICO, CITY, Aug. 25.—The Mexican government is contemplating a policy of even greater severity than that yet displayed toward the clergy should the Catholic leaders continue their present defiant attitude, it was stated today by an official spokesman.

"President Calles showed a most benevolent attitude in Saturday's conference with Archbishop Ruiz and Bishop Diaz," it was stated by the administration, "and he expected the prelates to respond by displaying a conciliatory spirit themselves."

The episcopate's announcement yesterday that the conference had offered no basis for a renewal of religious services, and that the results of the meeting had not even been referred to Rome, was taken in government circles today as an indication that the church would make no efforts toward peace.

The government will not suspend the religious regulations prior to a congressional mandate, which is extremely unlikely, the administration spokesman declared, but added that religious regulations, like any other kind, have a certain amount of flexibility, according to existing circumstances.

They can be interpreted with severity, and rigidly enforced, he stated, or given a benevolent interpretation, and enforced with a conciliatory spirit.

"It is up to the church to decide which course shall be followed," he said. "Early and complete obedience to the laws will result in benevolence, but continued defiance will meet with the utmost severity. At the present moment the church may renew its services at will. Later—A shrug of the shoulders finished the sentence."

Prohibition Law To Stand As Is Says President

(By Universal Service)

PAUL SMITHS, Aug. 25.—The prohibition law will stand just as it is without a single substantial change at least until 1930.

Congressman Will R. Wood, of Indiana, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee so declared here today following a long conference on the political outlook with President Coolidge.

Wood declared the President was elated by the report he gave him on the campaign situation. A Republican congress is certain to be elected this fall to serve with him during the last two years of his administration.

Of prohibition Wood said: "My canvass shows that the sentiment for prohibition is just as strong as it ever was in the south and west. In a few sections it will be the dominating issue, but the political complexion of the new congress won't change in the west or south on that issue and the east cannot make enough gains to bring about a change in the Volstead Act."

The congress for which Wood predicted such a gloomy outlook for the wet will not be displaced by the succeeding congress until December, 1929.

ABD-EL-KRIM IS PREPARING FOR HIS EXILE

(By Universal Service)

FEZ, Aug. 25.—Abd-El-Krim, with mussulman fatalism, is preparing for his exile in a tiny island in the Indian ocean.

The one time government clerk who led a stubborn revolt against two great powers and who aspired to be "king of the Rif" spends most of his day in roaming through the vast flowering gardens which surround his residence.

Regularly every morning and evening the vanquished rebel prays to his Allah, who he believes directed his surrender to the French.

Recently the Riffian tribe of Gaeis, having decided to revolt against the French, managed to get word of their plan through to Abd-El-Krim. A reply, evidently inspired by the French, who immediately forwarded it to its destination when they learned that it read as follows:

"Allah is powerful, Allah desired a French victory because for a long time the Riffians have not followed the religion of their brothers and fought against the people who were able to bring prosperity, civilization and happiness."

Although Abd-El-Krim has displayed no desire to escape, troops of the Eighth Colonial Regiment guard the whitewashed house on the outskirts of the town.

Si Mohamed, Abd-El-Krim's brother, who is housed with Abd-El-Krim, accepts his imprisonment with less grace and declares he would not have surrendered had he known that he was to be exiled.

PALATKA (Fla.), Aug. 25.—The inquiry into numerous whippings of white and black residents of this section will be recessed to night until next Tuesday, State's Attorney J. C. Adkins, announced this afternoon.

The thirteenth witness examined in secret today by Adkins was A. B. Baker, writer for the Palatka "Daily News." It was believed Baker was asked to testify regarding the recent arraignment of Minnie "Teetie" Pinkey, flogged negress.

The woman's son and another negro were killed when they were bringing her home after she had been whipped by a band of masked white men.

More than fifty persons have been flogged by masked mobs in Putnam County in the last ten months, Adkins declared.

Expenses of the Government to Be Cut $250,000,000

(By Universal Service)
PAUL SMITH, N. Y., Aug. 25.—President Coolidge aims to slash government expenses next year by $250,000,000.

His plan was revealed here today by Congressman Martin B. Madden of Illinois, chairman of the House Appropriations committee.

As the expenditures for this year will be $3,600,000,000 this estimated total of next year $3,350,000,000 will be the smallest since the war.

"He is determined to keep his economy program in force and to avoid all unjustifiable expenses," said Madden.

Madden left early today for Chicago. He will open the appropriations hearing in Washington about November 5, following conferences with General Lord, the budget director.

PRESIDENT IS PRAISED BY ROSENWALD

By CHARLES N. WHEELER
(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Julius Rosenwald has returned from his visit to the summer White House, amazed at the remarkable grasp President Coolidge has of the whole industrial and economic situation.

Incidentally, he also was amazed to learn upon his arrival that he had been represented in some of the public prints as having carried away from Paul Smith's most secret thoughts of President Coolidge on Colonel Frank L. Smith's candidacy for the Senate.

"I never mentioned the subject to the President," he said. "I discussed the economic situation with him and it was one of the biggest surprises I ever got."

"It is simply remarkable the information he has on the economic conditions of this country, not only in a general way, but in detail."

"Why, he even told me things about my own business that had escaped me."

While it is generally known that Rosenwald is opposed to Colonel Smith, the Republican candidate, and is interested in getting some other man in the race, all efforts to get a formal expression from him yesterday were unavailing.

Then he suggested it was time to turn to more pleasant subjects, and he was his old self again, with flashes of infectious enthusiasm.

He was particularly pleased, he said, with the way Chicago is taking to the new industrial museum, to be made possible through his munificence. When it is in operation it will be the boys who will get the greatest benefit from it. It will be not only a liberal education, but I believe it will inspire many of the boys to know more of the means of production and thereby turn their lives to useful and gainful toil.

And the "bread upon the water" seemed to be returning to the philanthropist from other directions throughout the day. One was a cable from his son, William, who has just made a survey of the Jewish colonization work in Southern Russia, to which Rosenwald contributed $1,000,000.

Not only are thousands of poor Jewish families being removed from the cities, where they lived great poverty, and given an opportunity to build and maintain comfortable homes out on the fertile prairie, but a more sympathetic attitude toward them is being expressed by the Soviet Government.

Modern Woodmen Baseball Team To Play Sunday

The Modern Woodmen ball team is scheduled to go up against some team on Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the San Pablo park. So far the name of the team has not been learned but it is expected that it will be one of the Spalding league.

All members of the ball team are urged by the manager to be present at the session of the lodge tomorrow night at the Red Men's hall.

Last Sunday the local team was defeated by the Western Paper Box team of Oakland by a score of 3 to 2.

Lefty Redding will be on the mound Sunday and Moitza will receive his offerings.

Sportographs

OAKS
Gene Valla, of the Seals and Earl "Pinches" Kunz will trade uniforms today. Valla, known as "Little Boom" will jog around in the outfield for the Oaks while Kunz will do his best on the mound for the Seals. The deal was a straight-away trade.

MORE ON THE OAKS
Evidently the Oaks are trying to make up for lost ground during their struggle with the Seals last week when they lost five out of seven games. Now they are fighting the Beavers and as usual, against the northern team, are going like a million dollars.

MOTOR BOATING
A new record for motor boating was made by Harry Magee of San Francisco when he drove between San Francisco and Stockton, a distance of 127 miles, in two hours, nine minutes and 31 seconds. Magee made the record on the Sacramento river. This mark lowers his former record by 11 minutes and 12 seconds.

SUNDAY BASEBALL
Philadelphia may not have Sunday baseball. Residents near the park where the Philadelphia team gambled have signed a petition asking that all requests for baseball games on Sunday be denied by the city fathers. So no baseball games on Sunday—maybe!

M'COY CASE IN HANDS OF THE JURY TODAY

Testimony in the trial of R. J. McCoy of Crockett, charged with manslaughter in the death of Gus Erickson, aged 22, resident of El Cerrito several months ago, was practically completed yesterday.

Defense attorneys Rogers and Bray summoned their witnesses yesterday. Testimony for the most part was in regard to the character of the defendant. McCoy took the stand and gave his side of the story. He said that he had not been feeling well and had returned home from work, had eaten and drove to Oakland. He claimed that he was not familiar with the streets there, and could not say where he had driven.

Later he drove out San Pablo avenue. He maintained that he does not remember having struck anybody or anything until the accident at Macdonald avenue and San Pablo when his car overturned.

When asked to explain the cir-

Plane Returns To Crissy Field

After refueling their plane with supplies furnished by the Standard Oil company, First Lieutenant Lloyd Barnett and his mechanic, Lewis Service of the United States Army Air service, flew their De Havilland plane back to Crissy field yesterday morning.

Lieutenant Barnett who is supervising officer for the planes which the War Department has loaned to the Forest Reserve for forest fire patrol was forced down here Tuesday afternoon because of a heavy fog bank and lack of fuel.

Cumstances of the blood on the left headlight, he stated that he had a tooth extracted earlier in the day and might have spit on the light. He could not explain how the light had been crushed in.

Traffic officer George Leber, testifying for the prosecution, said that his attention was called to the car driven by McCoy because of the excessive rate of speed he was traveling.

The case is expected to go to the jury today.

FAMOUS ART TREASURES TO BE AUCTIONED

(By Universal Service)
By ROBERT J. PRYAN.
LONDON, Aug. 25.—(Special Cable Dispatch)—The famous art treasures collected during his life time by the late Lord Metcham, the financier, are to be sold by his widow it was announced today. Heavy taxation, which the estate must bear, is believed to have prompted the Dowager Lady Metcham to order the sale of the rich collection, which is generally conceded to be the finest left in London.

The bulk of the collection is paintings, including the noted canvas "The Metcham" for which Lord Metcham paid $2,000,000. Orders have been given to Hampton's to prepare for auction the entire collection in November. Experts from that firm are now appraising and cataloguing the collection.

Of the most valuable paintings are Sir Thomas Lawrence's "Fanny" a portrait of Miss Mary Moulton Barnett; Jacobus's "Lord Donalson"; a portrait of Mrs. Jerningham; a full length study of Ann Lady de la Pole by Romney; Hopwood's portrait of Mrs. Jerningham; Richardson's study of Mrs. Robertson; Williamson, and Lawrence's Mrs. Angerstein and Child. From the staircase of Devonshire house hangs the famous Gobelin tapestry "Roland," an unusually large and well preserved piece. Rare Chinese porcelains, including a perfume case of the Kienlung period, a Fouvas tapestry and a collection of Sèvres china are expected to bring large prices.

Everything in the house, at No. 29 Arlington street will be sold, including the wine cellar.

Famous Woman Parachute-Jumper Lands In Tree, Hangs Helpless for Hour Before She Is Rescued

This photograph was taken while Miss Olive Stone was waiting rescuers, following a leap she made at Crystal Palace, London. Her parachute was wrecked when she landed high in a big tree and she was forced to hang from a limb for an hour. The photograph shows Miss Stone clinging near the trunk of the tree.

Chamber of Commerce and City Council To Discuss Proposed Transportation To Mira Vista

September 1st and 2nd of the coming week, the directors voted an appropriation of $100 to be used in advertising the event in the communities in the Eastern portions of the county. The matter was brought before the body by Director Fred La Moine who spoke in behalf of the Merchants Association which has so far handled the expense and details of the Style Show alone.

Thousands of out-of-town visitors are expected to be attracted to the Style Show as the result of the effort to be made in spreading the news in the eastern section of Contra Costa county.

Following the report of R. S. Sanders, advertising and publicity director of the chamber of commerce, who represented President Sanford at the last meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Contra Costa County held at Pittsburg, Friday, August 19th, that the next meeting would be held in Richmond, September 20th, the directors pledged to arrange a big affair in honor of visiting delegates. Director H. A. Johnston brought the matter before the board and said he believed it would be fine idea to show the men from other Contra Costa Chambers of Commerce that Richmond stands ready to cooperate with them in promoting the interests of Contra Costa county as a whole. "Let's make the event a big one," continued Johnston. "Let's fill this dining room of the Hotel Carquinez. It is worth while. It means much to Richmond."

The event will take the form of a dinner preceding the regular meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

President Sanford reported that never before in the history of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce were there so many inquiries for information about Richmond as so many callers at the chamber of commerce headquarters.

PIONEER GIRLS ENJOY SWIM

The Pioneer girls enjoyed a delightful swimming party on Tuesday evening at the Richmond municipal natatorium, following the short business meeting of the girls.

Plans were made by the girls for a "watermelon feed" to be given at the conclusion of the next meeting of the order.

There's a town out West where they have an Indian barber shop. Seems like that would be a bad place to get a scalp treatment.

23. He has retained in office appointees of former governors where they have proved themselves competent and efficient.

24. He has made new appointments entirely on the basis of merit without regard to political consequences and not to pay political debt.

25. He is needed to help secure the passage by the next legislature and to put into operation the plan of his commission to revise criminal procedure to make justice swifter and more certain in California.

26. He has kept in close touch with the affairs of state government and is better informed on state matters than any other governor in recent years.

27. He has the proper training to be the chief executive of the great state of California.

If he is elected, it will mean the final wrecking and defeat of the old political machine in California. It is defeated it will mean that the spoils system will be revised and the political systems will be again built up through patronage.

CARELESSNESS DID IT!
CARELESSNESS is directly responsible for more than 75% of all forest fires. A burning match, a cigarette carelessly tossed aside, a campfire left uncovered—and thousands upon thousands of acres are flame-swept and destroyed in the raging holocaust that follows!

Let us all, by rigidly observing a few simple rules, help the brave men who are devoting their lives to the preservation of our forests. Do your part to help preserve this great national heritage. Never throw aside a burning match or toss away a burning cigarette—never leave your campfire uncovered!
